Most Common Formatting Errors

Listed here are the most common formatting errors. Proper formatting will speed your manuscript to publication.

TITLE PAGE
Running head should be a maximum of 60 characters and spaces Running head should be in CAPITALS and written in one of the following styles:
   AUTHOR—SHORT TITLE WRITTEN HERE
   AUTHOR & AUTHOR—SHORT TITLE WRITTEN HERE
   AUTHOR ET AL.—SHORT TITLE WRITTEN HERE

ABSTRACT
   the word “Abstract.” should be left-justified, only the first letter capitalized, bold type followed by a period then the body of the abstract follows on the same line maximum length: feature article - 250 words, short communication - 150 words first mention of each arachnid species name (or genus name alone) should be followed by the original describing author, then a comma, then year of description (i.e., Gertsch, 1947) (see Instructions to Authors for sources to consult for this information) “Keywords:” should be one word, only the first letter capitalized, followed by a colon, bold type, with keywords separated by commas keywords should not include any words that appear in the title and should avoid words that appear in the abstract

BODY OF THE TEXT FOR ARTICLES manuscript text should be left-justified throughout, not left and right justified do not use the word “INTRODUCTION” as a first-level heading first-level headings should be all capitals, centered and not bold type the correct first-level heading is METHODS, not MATERIALS & METHODS second-level headings (if used) should be indented, bold type followed by a period, then a dash, not italicized (e.g., Secondary heading.—Followed by text……) when citing a paper, do not use a comma between authors and year of publication when citing a two-author paper, use “&” not “and” to connect the authors when citing paper with 3 or more authors, use “et al.”, not italicized, with no comma multiple citations in a sentence are separated by a semi-colon unless two papers by the same author(s) are cited (example: Chamberlin & Ivie 1937, 1942; Kaston 1970)
   first mention of each arachnid species name (or genus name alone) should be followed by the describing author, then a comma, then year of description (i.e., Gertsch, 1947) (see Instructions to Authors for sources to consult for this information) leave a space on either side of an equal sign (i.e., n = 4, not n=4) sample size should be written as n; not n, N, or N probability should be written as P; not p, P or p Revised June 2021

proper punctuation and spacing is:  i.e.,  or  e.g.,

Short communications: do not use section headings in the body of the text
Short communications: should be limited to 2 small figures or tables or 1 table and 1 figure

CITATIONS:
the section heading should be LITERATURE CITED, not REFERENCES

note: citation format was changed in May 2020

Below is a properly formatted article citation:

initials trail all author surnames, no periods except for the final author no space between author initials (i.e., "RS" not “R S”) if more than 6 authors to a citation, list the first 6, then use “et al.”, not italicized use a period after the final author’s last initial year of publication: no parentheses, followed by a period title: in sentence case; i.e., capitalize only first letter of first word and proper names (except for titles in German) use a period after the title journal name is spelled out, in italics, neither a period nor comma at end volume number is in regular type, neither bold nor italics no issue number after volume number unless every issue in a year starts with page 1 no space between the colon and opening page number closing page number is not truncated (i.e., 344-349, not 344-9) period after closing page number

Below is a properly formatted chapter in a book sequence: Authors, year, chapter title, pages, book title, editor(s), publisher, location chapter title: only first letter of first word and proper names are capitalized pages listed as “Pp.” not “pp.”, closing page number not truncated (i.e., 241-251 not 241-51) the word “In” is italicized without a period or colon following book title: the first letter of each important word is capitalized if multiple editors, list them, initials preceding surname, and follow with “eds.”

use a period at the end
WHEN TO USE PARENTHESES AROUND SPECIES AUTHOR AND YEAR:

- The presence or absence of parentheses surrounding a species author and year of description should follow the format given in the World Spider Catalogue. This conveys information about the history of the name.

Stegodyphus dumicola Pocock, 1898
The absence of parentheses around the author and year means that Pocock originally placed this spider in the genus Stegodyphus, with no taxon name changes since that time.

Stegodyphus lineatus (Latreille, 1817)
Here, the presence of parentheses means that Latreille originally placed this species in a different genus (Eresus); it was later placed the genus Stegodyphus.
